

Gardeners

Our Governance Committee has been reviewing a number of issues recently including our responsibilities under the Privacy Act, both federal and state.

We value your organisation and its members' privacy and while we are not necessarily bound by either acts, we have taken a decision, under our Procedures and Protocols, that the personal privacy of your members is to be protected. Apart from listing your group on our website, as a member organisation, no other details are, or will be provided publicly.

The Garden Clubs of Australia Inc recognises that it is important for your club to grow and thrive and it is essential that potential members are able to contact your club, thus all clubs to be listed on the 'Locate a Club' page on our website must be contactable. Approximately ninety percent of clubs already have contact details available publicly.

We request that you contact the Membership Secretary (membership@gardenclubs.com.au) if you currently have not authorised contact details to be published on our website and supply either a phone number or email address.

If your club decides that it does not want to attract new enquiries by not authorising contact details, we respect your decision and will remove your organisation from 'Locate a Club', our publicly available listing

Kind regards,

George Hoad.
President
Garden Clubs of Australia Inc.
